Soviets Plan To Reoccupy Korea, Claim

Airfields Are Being Built

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—The Air Force released information today supporting the belief that the Russians plan to reoccupy Korea when the military tide turns against the Communists.

A spokesman said heavy construction is underway to build airports that could handle modern jet planes in both the Wonsan and Pyongyang areas of North Korea.

Air observation leaves little doubt that the fields are being built for Russian planes that would move in to provide cover for Soviet troops if and when they return to Korea.

No similar construction is being attempted in South Korea, although Kimp'o Field near Seoul is the country's best airbase and is nearer present Communist operations.

The possibility that the North Koreans are about to acquire a modern airforce is further discounted on the grounds that they could not supply pilots and mechanics even over a period of months—and the construction is being rushed.

PYONGYANG, the North Korean capital, and Wonsan, oil refining center, have the best airfields for protecting Western and Eastern sectors respectively above the 38th parallel. The heavy construction is mainly:

1. 11,000-foot runways, longer than 7,000 feet, the minimum for latest jet planes.
2. "Revetments"—three-sided, roofless structures with thick concrete walls to protect planes from bombing damage. One side is left open to enable the planes to gain the runway for a quick takeoff.

Plans Discussed To Draft U.S. Trained Doctors

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—Defense Department discussions were reported underway today in an effort to force into military service physicians trained at government expense during World War II.

Maj. Gen. George E. Armstrong, army deputy surgeon general, advised the House Appropriations Committee that the law was being studied to determine whether they could be drafted.

Armstrong stated that this would require extension of the present 25-year limit on inductions because most of the physicians are now 31 or 32 years old.

Atomic Pile Put In Use For Government Research

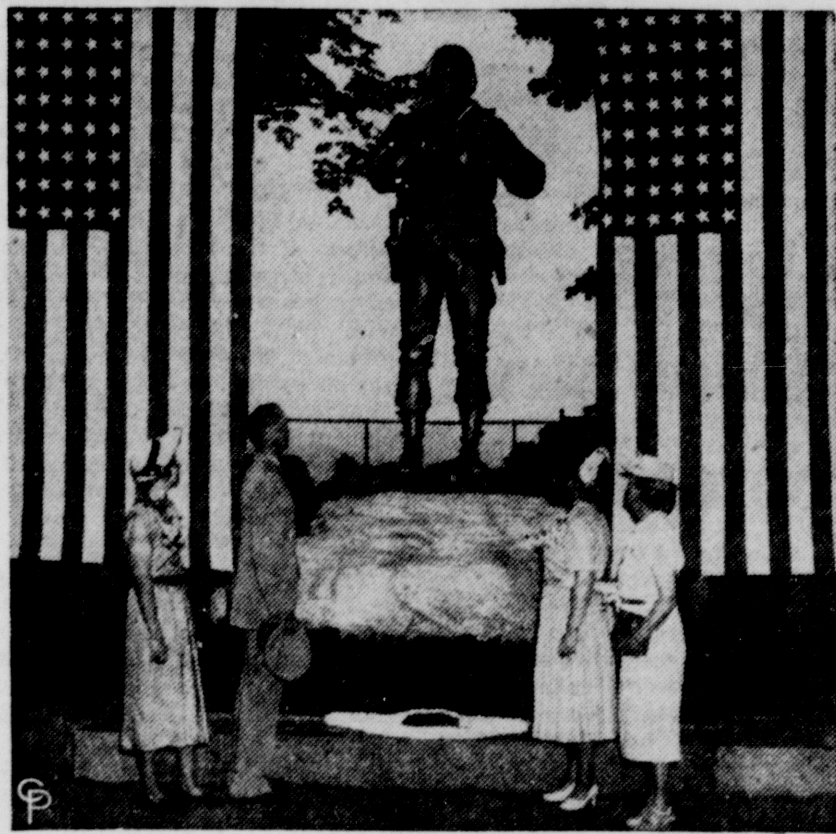

NEW YORK, Aug. 22—The first big atomic pile built in the United States since the end of World War II went into operation today at the Brookhaven National Laboratories on Long Island.

The Atomic Energy Commission office in New York said it is powerful enough, if used industrially, to provide electricity for a town of 2,000 to 3,000 persons.

It will be used, however, for government research into further atom secrets.

The pile, or reactor, or furnace, as it is called, was scheduled to start a year ago, but was delayed for advanced design changes, the announcement said.

It uses radioactive uranium as its basic atomic fuel and generates the other radioactive ele-

BILL APPROVED 85-3

Senators Say Control Curb May Still Be Killed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—Administration senators declared today that they may still kill an "all-or-nothing" restriction on price and wage ceilings in the Economic Control Bill despite its passage last night.

Sen. Sparkman (D) Ala., said that he and other Democrats would try in a House-Senate conference to remove the GOP-backed proviso preventing President Truman from using "selective" price and wage controls.

The conference, expected to get underway later this week, will draft the final version of legislation giving Mr. Truman broad economic powers to meet war and defense needs.

The bill was finally approved by an 85 to 3 vote shortly after 8 p. m. after nearly 50 amendments were acted upon. Senators opposing the finished bill were Ecton (R) Mont., Malone (R) Nev., and Williams (R) Del.

In addition to authorizing blanket price and wage ceilings, the bill permits rationing the use of allocation and priorities, requisition of needed materials and facilities, loans to encourage defense production, credit controls and emergency settlement of labor disputes.

SPARKMAN said the Democratic leadership considers the "all-or-nothing" amendment the "most serious" of the numerous changes the Senate made in the bill during an eight-hour session.

The amendment struck out a provision under which the President could have used price and wage controls when and to whatever degree he saw fit. Under it he must control all prices and wages at the same time, except for a few exempted items.

Sparkman said Democrats would also attempt to remove another Senate-passed amendment requiring the President to put all his allocation and priority powers in the hands of the secretary of commerce.

This was stoutly opposed by Administration leaders on the President's hands," but it passed 47 to 42.

Although Republicans, with the help of about a dozen Democrats, managed to put these two restrictive amendments on the bill, an attempt by Sen. C. A. Ecton (R) Ind., to strike the entire price and wage control section from the bill was easily defeated.

Kiwanians Hear Talk On Egypt By Native

Egypt's fight against Communism was explained briefly to Circleville Kiwanis Club members in Pickaway Country Club.

The explanation was delivered by Mohammed L. Shibiny of Cairo, Egypt, a student in the college of education in Ohio State university.

The young student, now in his final phase of working for his doctor's degree in the university, told Kiwanians that Communism is aided in Egypt by the poor financial conditions of the lower classes.

He explained that in his country the wealth is in a very few hands, where the rich are very rich and the poor very poor.

Shibiny said that his government now is attempting to improve the condition of the lower classes, but that Communism is a big worry in the country.

TURNING toward his own phase of work, the student explained that Egyptian primary and secondary schools are free, and that free hot lunches are served to the youngsters.

He said that boys and girls from five to eight years old, roughly, are entered in preparatory school, those from eight to 15 are enrolled in primary school (Continued on Page Two)

'LAW NOT PREMATURE'

Johnson Asks Immediate Enactment Of UMT Law

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—Defense Secretary Johnson today called for an immediate stand-by Universal Military Training Law to close "a serious gap in our national security program."

In testimony before the Senate Armed Services Committee, Johnson said that lack of United States preparedness for manpower is "alarming our friends and encouraging potential aggressors."

Johnson and Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, headed an array of defense spokesmen whose testimony backed the proposal of Senate Armed Services Chairman Tydings (D) Md., to rush a UMT bill through Congress this year.

Johnson said that "as the President stated recently," it would not be advisable to divert efforts toward putting UMT into effect while the regular forces are being expanded. He said:

"I believe that when the legislation is enacted it should contain a proviso to authorize that the program of Universal Military Training will not be initiated until such time as the President may direct."

Johnson denied that the Defense Department is "premature" in asking for UMT now. He explained:

"The very fact of enactment of such legislation will provide the base—and provide it now—for integrated planning for the post Korean period."

The defense secretary added: "If Universal Military Training is enacted now its psychological effect abroad will be of incalculable value to the cause of world peace."

'Token' Train Strike Spreads

Stoppages Set To Last 5 Days

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—The "token" strike of trainmen and conductors spread today to two industrially-important short-line railroads in Chicago and Pittsburgh after union leaders rejected a White House peace plea.

Several thousand employees of the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern and the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie quit work early this morning, forcing shutdown of steel blast furnaces in the Chicago area and threatening operations of other plants.

The new stoppages, like those which began Monday in Cleveland, Louisville and St. Paul freight terminals, are scheduled to last five days.

The "token" walkouts were called by the unions in support of their demands for shorter hours and higher wages for 300,000 members of the brotherhood of trainmen and the railway conductors.

UNION LEADERS warned that if a settlement does not come soon, the "token" strikes may flare into a nationwide stoppage matching the walkout of 125,000 workers which got under way on Canada's railroad system today.

Pumpkin Show Adds New Feature For 1950 Event

A brand new feature is to be presented during this year's annual Circleville Pumpkin Show.

The new addition to the already jam-packed 1950 Pumpkin Show schedule will be a contest for military music units, featuring the Circleville Legion Drum and Bugle Corps.

To date, five other military units have entered the competition, both Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars organizations.

The new feature has been scheduled to replace the annual band festival program and will be held Thursday night of Pumpkin Show week.

Judging for the contest will be conducted along the parade route, with all but the Circleville unit eligible for first prize of $100, second prize of $75 and third prize of $50. The Circleville group will parade, but as host to the competition, will not be judged.

Units which already have entered the contest are the VFW drum and bugle corps of Springfield; the Legion band from Cincinnati; and Legion drum and bugle corps from Bellefontaine, Belle Center and Columbus.

The organizations are to be judged along the parade route for marching, music and appearance. Winners will be announced following the parade.

TRUCK FLEETS ORGANIZED

Rail Strike Threatens Canadian Commerce

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 22—Canadian railway and telegraph workers began walking off their jobs across the country today in a strike that threatened to paralyze the nation's entire commerce and industry.

Some 125,000 employees of the government-operated Canadian National Railways and the privately-owned Canadian Pacific were taking part in the strike over the 40-hour work week and increased pay demands.

Government Mediator Prof. W. A. MacKintosh continued a marathon all-night meeting with union and management representatives, but there was no sign of agreement as the strike went into effect across the country at 6 a. m. in each time zone.

The walkout, halting all telegraph communications and rail service, began in Nova Scotia and Newfoundland and spread through Ontario as the deadline hour arrived.

The Canadian cabinet met last night and stayed in session until 2 a. m. today in a vain effort to seek a solution. It was scheduled to meet again this morning.

DEMANDS have been voiced by many groups, among them the important Canadian Federation of Agriculture for the government to take over and operate the railroads on an emergency basis. But this would require a special session of parliament to vote the needed powers, and the ministers appear to think the strike should be settled by agreement between labor and management.

Toronto organized trucking fleets to carry foodstuffs and other essential supplies. In other cities, such efforts were left to private initiative, and in many were completely disorganized.

DOVER, Aug. 22—Hassan Abd El Rehim, powerful 41-year-old Egyptian, won the English Channel swim marathon today in a stirring neck-and-neck finish that brought him ashore in the unofficial time of ten hours and 25 minutes. His time was 13 minutes ahead of the recognized record.

Rehim, who negotiated the grueling 19-mile channel course for the third time, nosed out Frenchman Roger Le Morvan in the shadow of the chalk cliffs of Dover.

Rehim strode majestically from the water after a final half mile spurt. Le Morvan made the beach, virtually exhausted.

Eileen Fenton, 21-year-old English schoolteacher, led the women's division after the three-quarter mark in the London Daily Mail's swim derby.

Twenty-four entrants plunged into the chilly water at Cap Gris Nez this morning, but at least half dropped out before the race reached the climactic stage.

Rehim won first prize of $2,800.

West German Reds Get Advertising By Gangsterism

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—Reports reaching the State Department today indicate that West German Communists are using Moscow's much derided gangster methods to get advertising for the Red press.

These reports say that there are 16 Communist newspapers in the western zone of Germany. They are subordinate to the Kommunistische Partei Deutschlands—the German Communist party—and all follow the party line.

These emphasize "peace" and "outlawing of the atom bomb."

Methods of obtaining subscribers and advertising are described in detail. They resemble the strong-arm methods of U. S. gangsters, which the Moscow radio denounces as symbolic of American life.

$100 Billion Earmarked For U.S. Rearmament

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—The Administration plans to spend 100 billion dollars in the next four years to rearm the United States against the possibility of World War III.

Defense plans call for the expenditure of 24 to 25.5 billion dollars annually, exclusive of additional billions for the rearmament of friendly non-Communist foreign nations.

The extent of American rearmament as a result of the Korean war and the international crisis that followed was revealed in data made public today by the House Appropriations Committee.

The data, submitted by Secretary of Defense Johnson, revealed that it was planned to maintain expenditures at approximately the level of the current fiscal year for an indeterminate period.

Proposed fiscal year expenditures will run as follows: 1951, 25 billion; 1952, 25.6 billion; 1953, 24 billion; and 1954, 24.8 billion. The annual defense expenditures would level off at 24.6 billion dollars annually beginning July 1, 1954.

Superforts Raid Near Siberia

Invasers Suffer Shattering Loss

TOKYO, Aug. 23—(Wednesday)—Counter-attacking American troops threw back thrusts of Communist forces in Korea's Taegu and southern sectors Tuesday while B-29 Superforts made a new 500-ton bomb strike within 40 miles of Russia's Siberian border.

Outstanding developments included:

1. Red infiltrators swarmed around the flanks of the 27th Regimental Combat Team north of Taegu but a Red machinegun roadblock thrown behind the American line by the enemy sneak troops was wiped out.

2. In the south sector the 25th Division's famed 24th Regiment regained a position it lost Monday. The Fifth Regimental Combat Team launched a counter-attack against 500 to 1,000 Reds atop a hill the Americans lost the day before.

3. The far-ranging B-29s in their new strike near the Siberian border rained their bombs on the deepwater port of Chongjin. There is a suspicion that the Superforts not only are destroying strategic Korean war targets but also are hitting industrial facilities important to Russian atomic research.

4. Maj. Gen. Hobart Gay, commander of the hard-fighting U. S. First Cavalry, declared the enemy has "just about shot his bolt" and added that "we are going to start rolling them back soon."

BASED ON NO MORE COMBAT

$100 Billion Earmarked For U.S. Rearmament

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—The Administration plans to spend 100 billion dollars in the next four years to rearm the United States against the possibility of World War III.

Defense plans call for the expenditure of 24 to 25.5 billion dollars annually, exclusive of additional billions for the rearmament of friendly non-Communist foreign nations.

The extent of American rearmament as a result of the Korean war and the international crisis that followed was revealed in data made public today by the House Appropriations Committee.

The data, submitted by Secretary of Defense Johnson, revealed that it was planned to maintain expenditures at approximately the level of the current fiscal year for an indeterminate period.

Proposed fiscal year expenditures will run as follows: 1951, 25 billion; 1952, 25.6 billion; 1953, 24 billion; and 1954, 24.8 billion. The annual defense expenditures would level off at 24.6 billion dollars annually beginning July 1, 1954.

THE PROPOSED expenditures are based upon the following factors: (1) that the Korean war will end during the current fiscal year ending June 30, (2) that military forces will be stabilized at the 2,100,000 expanded level set for this year, (3) that there will be no more actual combat.

After the current fiscal year, expenditures would be apportioned as follows: Army, 10 billion dollars a year, leveling off at 9 billion annually in 1955; Navy, 8.3 billion in 1952, and 8 billion annually thereafter; Air Force, 6.9 billion in 1952, 5.6 bilof three-sided structure provides almost maximum bomb protection, barring a direct hit. Although roofless as built, its walls may be used to support camouflage, making the plane indistinguishable from any considerable altitude.

MILITARY leaders say it is inconceivable that Russia would send ground forces without air protection, and that under certain circumstances this fact would greatly complicate solution of the Korean problem.

In the event of a Russian reoccupation, a positive order stopping American bombing in North Korea presumably would be necessary to prevent U. S.-Russian air combat touching off World War III.

No policy decision would be necessary to prevent U. S. and UN ground forces from crossing the parallel, since neither Washington nor Lake Success has indicated any intention of entering North Korea.

A move by Russian occupying forces is believed most likely to come when the U. S. has launched a general offensive driving the Communists rapidly back toward their territory.

The best military estimates at present are that this will not be possible until next Spring.

and those from 15-18 are enrolled in secondary school.

Shibiny explained that Egypt's universities are supported by the government and that student fees are very low.

He added that women's education in the universities are absolutely free, since most of Egypt's young women marry at ages of about 16 years old and devote their time to their homes.

Shibiny has been in the U. S. for three years after having been graduated by a university in his native land.

Next Monday's Kiwanis meeting promises to be one of the entertaining features of the year.

Dr. William Rickey, program chairman, explained that the Hilltop Kiwanis Club of Columbus will direct the program, which will consist primarily of a demonstration of ping-pong performed by champions. The demonstration will be held in the barn at the country club.

Divorce Petition Is Filed Here

A petition designed to end a 14-year-old marriage has been filed in Pickaway County common pleas court by Grace M. Buttermore against William Buttermore.

The petition claims that the couple was married June 5, 1936, and has no children.

The wife accuses her husband of gross neglect of duty and extreme cruelty. Her petition claims that she left her husband May 10 because of ill treatment.

The wife seeks the divorce, restoration of her former name of Grace M. Crawford and other relief.

Ashville Man Passes State Bar Exams

An Ashville war veteran will be inducted into the Ohio State Bar Association Thursday.

He is Ralph Mahaffey, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Mahaffey of Ashville, who was graduated by the Ohio State university law college last June.

Mahaffey was one of 412 successful applicants who received word Tuesday that he had passed the state bar exams in late June.

The Ashville man was graduated by Ashville high school, of which his father is principal, and served three years as an officer in the U. S. Army Air Force.

While a student in OSU, Mahaffey served both as vice president and president of the Student Bar Association and was an editor of the Ohio State Law Journal.

Mahaffey now is associated in law practice with Kermit Sitterly of Lancaster, with whom he has been affiliated since last month.

The Ashville man will be inducted into the bar Thursday in Columbus by Chief Justice Carl V. Weygant of the Ohio Supreme Court.

Seven Injured When Propeller Rips Into Plane

DENVER, Aug. 22—One engine of a four-engine American Airlines DC-6 luxury liner broke loose high over the Rocky Mountains early today, injuring seven persons and indirectly resulting in the death of one passenger.

The propeller from the right inboard (No. 3) engine ripped a gaping hole in the passenger compartment, scattering baggage and hatboxes, an eyewitness said.

The accident occurred while the plane was flying at 21,000 feet with some discomfort reported from the sudden drop in pressurization. The plane made an emergency landing 18 minutes later at Stapleton Air Port in East Denver, hitting the runway at 2:56 a. m.

The captain of the plane was R. K. Baker. The co-pilot was identified as Robert Reinicke. Stapleton Airport manager Herman Gassert said seven persons were taken to Denver General hospital for what appeared to be minor injuries.

The dead man was tentatively identified as Jack Kreby, address unknown. Gassert said he apparently died of a heart attack.

Reinicke said the accident happened without warning, and that everything was operating normally before the engine broke loose, sending the propeller tearing into the passenger compartment.

THE REALLY strong arm methods, however, appear in the soliciting of advertising.

Advertisers were said to include:

1. Those who wish to reach the readers of the Communist press since the latter are barred from reading other publications.

2. Party members who wish to show their loyalty.

3. Firms who feel that by advertising in the Communist papers they will be in a better position to trade with Eastern Germany and Russia.

4. The factory owner in a highly Communist area who doesn't want his equipment subjected to sudden "failures."

MRS. LEONARD GESSLER

Mrs. Mary Gessler, 66, formerly of Youngstown died at 3 a. m. Tuesday in the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Winland of Laurelville Route 1.

She was preceded in death by her husband, Leonard Gessler.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Winland, in whose home she died, and Mrs. Grace Ball of Hubbard; four sons, Leonard, Frank, Ralph and Anthony all of Youngstown and nine grandchildren.

She was a member of St. Joseph's Catholic church in Youngstown where funeral services will be held Thursday morning.

Burial will take place in Calvary Cemetery, Youngstown under direction of Defenbaugh Funeral home.

Friends may call in Higgins Funeral Home, Youngstown, Wednesday evening.

RAY SKINNER

Ray Skinner, 52, Clarksburg laborer died Monday in Athens State hospital where he had been a patient for three months.

He is survived by his mother, Mrs. Nellie Willis Skinner; three brothers, Warren of Chillicothe, Foreman of Huntington Township, Hoyt of near Williamsport; five sisters, Mrs. Verlin Blankenship of Chillicothe, Mrs. John Owen and Mrs. Clarence Baker of near Circleville, Mrs. Ballard O'Connor and Mrs. Alonzo Buzzard of Williamsport.

He was predeceased by his father, James Skinner, two brothers and a sister.

Funeral services will be conducted at 1 p. m. Wednesday in Fischer Funeral Home in Chillicothe.

Burial will be in Brown's Chapel Cemetery.

A continuance on an accusation of drunken driving and two counts of manslaughter was granted to a Circleville man Monday in mayor's court.

John E. Justice, 23, of 225 East Union street, was granted the continuance until 8 p. m. Friday in the court.

Justice was formally accused of operating an auto while drunk and of killing two young girls last Saturday when he appeared before Mayor Thurman I. Miller Monday. The affidavits were signed by State Highway Patrolman Charles Watters.

The Circleville man allegedly operated an auto which struck Elaine Lehman, 12, of Atlanta, and her friend, Yvonne Newlin, 13, of Chillicothe, as they were riding bicycles along Route 277 near New Holland.

Elaine Lehman was dead upon arrival in Washington C. H. hospital while her companion died of injuries in the hospital nearly nine hours later.

Forfeited Bonds Total $93 Here

Bonds totalling $93 were forfeited in Circleville mayor's court Monday by five persons accused of minor traffic violations last weekend.

Clyde Congrove, 37, of Columbus, forfeited $25 bond when failing to appear on an accusation of being in actual physical control of his auto while drunk. The Columbus man was arrested by Officer Dixie Watters.

Hubert Michels, 24, of West Virginia, relinquished $3 bond for allegedly running a stop light at Court and Main streets, while Clarence Seyfang of Circleville Route 3 forfeited $5 bond for the same accusation.

James Bowling, 25, of Columbus, forfeited $25 bond for allegedly operating an auto with fictitious license tags.

Ivan Lindsey, 21, of Columbus, relinquished $10 bond for allegedly passing in a non-passing zone on North Court street.

plying pressure along the 140-mile winding front.

The American and South Korean defenders were supported by tanks, artillery and swarming battle planes in their counter-blows to prevent the Red forces from breaking through to Taegu or Pusan.

Gen. Gay said it is known that the North Korean invaders have "suffered shattering losses."

An Eighth Army communiqué received in Tokyo Tuesday night said that in the south sector "at last report a United States force was engaged in reducing the road-block" wedged behind the 27th Regiment's rear.

Above Taegu, at the northwest corner of the front, U. S. and South Korean troops were locked in a series of grim struggles with armor-paced forward elements of six Red divisions, supported by heavy artillery. As of Tuesday afternoon, the enemy's pressure toward Taegu from the north was held in check, despite Red infiltrations behind United Nations lines.

THIRTEEN miles southwest of Taegu, still another North Korean division was building up its Hyonpyong bridgehead across the Nakdong river in the face of counter-thrusts by air-supported American troops.

On all sectors and far behind the enemy's lines, swarms of land-based and carrier-borne planes incessantly bombed, rocketed and strafed the Red forces and their supply bases. U. S. Air Force planes flew more than 500 sorties over the war theater Monday.

Plans Discussed To Draft U.S. Trained Doctors

Swanson stated that if these physicians, who did not serve during the last war, could not be brought into the Armed Forces, then it would be necessary to call up 1,000 doctors in the Navy Organized Reserves who did serve in World War II.

Armstrong declared also that "unless this matter can be resolved quickly, we are going to have to ask the Army's permission to recall physicians (who served in the last war) against their will."

Armstrong asserted that doctors in the reserves have so far been loath to volunteer.

SCHOOL PROVISION ADDED

Tomato Growers Reminded Of Child Labor Laws

CLEVELAND, Aug. 22—Growers who hire children to help cultivate or harvest tomato or other crops which move into interstate commerce should be sure these child workers are old enough for such employment under federal laws—if school is in session.

This statement was issued today by Wm. S. Singley of Cleveland, regional director of the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions, and Walter A.

Scheid, of the Ohio Canners association.

They agreed that practically all growers who furnish tomatoes or other farm products for canning come under the law, since such products usually move directly across state lines or are sold to canners whose products are shipped across state lines.

"If a farm produces goods for either direct or indirect shipment in interstate commerce, the prospective farmer-employer must bear in mind that the child labor provisions of the federal Fair Labor Standards Act apply with respect to employment of children in agricultural work," they said.

Mr. Singley pointed out that the amended law prohibits the employment of children under 16 on farms producing goods for interstate commerce during school hours. School is in session in the district where the child workers are living.

"Under the amended Act," he said, "it will not be legal for individual pupils to be employed in agricultural work if school is in session where they live, unless they are at least 16 years old. Formerly, it was legal to employ individuals under 16 if they had been excused from school."

He pointed out, however, that the law does not prevent the employment of children under 16 during school vacations, outside of school hours, or on holidays. Nor does it interfere with the right of a parent to employ his own children on his own farm or farms.

Man Escapes From Cavein

SELDEN, N. Y., Aug. 22—Howard L. Hodges said today that aside from the dirt in his ears he's in pretty fine shape for a man who was buried yesterday.

Hodges, 37, literally climbed out of his own grave, with an assist from bystanders. Operating a bulldozer, he fell off into a 15-foot cesspool. The cesspool walls caved in under the weight of the dozer, and the driverless machine slid down over the mouth of the hole.

Only quick digging by Howard Hull, 31, and another workman brought Hodges out alive.

Dogs Get New Leash On Life

MT. VERNON, N. Y., Aug. 22—Mount Vernon's 3,300 dogs got a new leash on life today, thanks to Municipal Judge P. Raymond Sirignano.

He ruled that the city's year-old statute requiring permanent leashing of dogs is invalid. Dog owners fought the measure. They said it "frustrated" the canine population.

'Burma Surgeon' Said Linked With Rebels

RANGOON, Aug. 22—The Burmese government said Monday it has "substantial evidence" that Dr. Gordon S. Seagrave, the American physician who became famous as the beloved "Burma surgeon," is guilty of "close collaboration with the Karen rebels."

A communique said Seagrave was arrested and brought to Rangoon last Thursday for questioning concerning his activities. His interrogation is continuing.

Seagrave was arrested at his Namkham mission hospital where for 28 years he had fought disease in Burma and ministered to the medical needs of the Burmese people.

Last September rebels from Kachin state occupied Namkham after a fight around the famous Seagrave hospital, and later were driven out by state troops.

The Kachin rebels last year had linked forces with the Karen revolutionists in an abortive attempt to occupy Toungoo. The Karens have been trying to set up an independent state since Britain gave Burma independence in 1948.

Dr. Seagrave was with the late Gen. Joseph Stilwell in the 1942 retreat to India before the advancing Japanese.

Protest Entered Against Jeffreys

COLUMBUS, Aug. 22—Official announcement on a protest against the Independent candidacy of Raymond J. Jeffreys of Columbus is expected within the next few days.

Secretary of State Charles F. Sweeney said yesterday that two or three counties examining Jeffreys' petitions have not yet returned their findings to his office.

It is expected, however, that Jeffreys will be disqualified as a candidate for congressman-at-large because of an insufficient number of signatures on his petitions.

Charles J. Kochmit of Shaker Heights filed the formal protest to his candidacy.

at the time, later wrote a book about the famous incident entitled "Burma Surgeon," which became a best-seller.

World Tension Brings Increase In Drink Addicts

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 22—The tense international situation was blamed today for an all-time high in alcoholic addiction in the United States.

Dr. E. M. Jellinek of Fort Worth, Texas, estimated there are 950,000 addicted drinkers in the country as compared with 600,000 in 1941.

Dr. Jellinek, director of the Yale Institute of Alcohol Studies of the Southwest, said hot and cold wars are responsible for the increase.

He addressed the Summer session of alcohol studies at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, sponsored by the Wisconsin Extension Division and the Wisconsin State Bureau of Alcohol Studies.

Dr. Jellinek noted an increase in addiction among women. He said this is the chief factor in the overall current figure and explained:

"The war put women in a male environment and gave them their own income. There were also wholesale movements from one place to another, and anxieties and fears resulting from worry about their men overseas."

Dr. Jellinek said he believes most of these women were moderate drinkers in the early 1940s and "only now are blossoming as full-blown alcoholics."

Plow Contestants Are Selected

MARYSVILLE, Aug. 22—Martin Cummins of Lewistown Route 1 and William J. Lehnhart of Nevada Route 2 will represent the nine-county area surrounding Marysville in the state and national plowing championships Sept. 12-13 at Urbana.

Cummins bettered seven other contestants in winning the county plowing championship yesterday at the Mullaney farm near Marysville. Edward Hardin of Marysville Route 2 placed second and Bill Winkler of Springfield Route 4 took third.

Lehnhart placed ahead of nine other contestants in the level plowing tests. Earl Atha of Morral Route 1 took second and Carl Gundrum of Galion Route 2 finished third.

The state meet will be conducted Sept. 12 at Urbana. The national test will be conducted the following day.

Wooster Man Gets Chief Counsel Job

COLUMBUS, Aug. 22—W. Harper Annat, of Wooster, prepared today to assume his new duties as chief counsel to Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy.

Duffy offered the newly vacated job to Annat yesterday and the assistant attorney general in charge of tax matters accepted within a matter of hours.

He succeeds William C. Bryant, of Columbus, who was appointed Saturday to the Franklin County common pleas court.

National crime figures were first published in 1930.

Cortisone Drug Price Slash Is Announced

RAHWAY, N. J., Aug. 22—A drastic price was announced in the price of Cortisone, the new drug which has had remarkable results in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis.

The drug, originally in such rare supply that it cost $200 a gram, was cut from $95 a gram to $50 by Merck and Co. of Rahway. This was the fifth reduction in the price of the drug since it was put into production a year ago.

Officials of the drug manufacturing concern said the new price cut was due to improved engineering and production methods.

The company's scientists also held out the hope that the rare substance now obtained only from ox bile may be made from other sources.

The hormone product not only has had spectacular effects in the control of rheumatic diseases, but has shown value in the treatment of bronchial asthma, inflammatory eye disease, skin disorders and some types of cancer.

The Merck Co. said "good supplies" of the drug have now been made available to more than 6,500 hospitals.

Cleveland Man Opposes Weygandt

COLUMBUS, Aug. 22—Francis B. Douglass, Cleveland attorney formerly of Columbus, will oppose Carl V. Weygandt in his bid for reelection as chief justice of the Ohio supreme court.

Douglass was chosen unanimously yesterday by the Republican state central committee to replace Common Pleas Judge Walter B. Wanamaker of Akron as the GOP candidate for the chief justice's position.

Wanamaker withdrew from the race last week on the ground the salary of the chief justice is not sufficient.

Douglass trailed Wanamaker, 127,849 votes to 194,985, for the GOP nomination in the May primaries.

NEW HIGH-RATED

SOHIO X-TANE

Never before...such public agreement about a gasoline!

Ever since X-TANE was introduced, its sales have been making Ohio gasoline history. That's enough to justify the five years of work and rebuilding that made this great, new gasoline possible. But it isn't all. From customers, new and old, all over the state, letters have poured in telling us of the brilliant new performance their cars are getting with X-TANE. Try new high-rated X-TANE in your car today, and see if you don't agree that it...

Make the X-sign today! Get X-tane's X-tras at no X-tra cost!

Meets the premium gasoline standard to give you new high-test performance at REGULAR GAS PRICE!

Good as we've made X-TANE, neither it nor any other regular priced gasoline will completely satisfy a few super sensitive car engines. Today's most advanced high compression cars, and some older cars with engine deposits that increase compression or that have special mechanical problems still require the extra high octane of Sohio Supreme. Let your car's engine tell you which Sohio gasoline you should use. Both are tops in their field! Judge for yourself!

SCHOOL PROVISION ADDED

Tomato Growers Reminded Of Child Labor Laws

CLEVELAND, Aug. 22—Growers who hire children to help cultivate or harvest tomato or other crops which move into interstate commerce should be sure these child workers are old enough for such employment under federal laws—if school is in session.

This statement was issued today by Wm. S. Singley of Cleveland, regional director of the U. S. Department of Labor's Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions, and Walter A.

Scheid, of the Ohio Canners association.

They agreed that practically all growers who furnish tomatoes or other farm products for canning come under the law, since such products usually move directly across state lines or are sold to canners whose products are shipped across state lines.

"If a farm produces goods for either direct or indirect shipment in interstate commerce, the prospective farmer-employer must bear in mind that the child labor provisions of the federal Fair Labor Standards Act apply with respect to employment of children in agricultural work," they said.

Mr. Singley pointed out that the amended law prohibits the employment of children under 16 on farms producing goods for interstate commerce during school hours in session in the district where the child workers are living.

"Under the amended Act," he said, "it will not be legal for individual pupils to be employed in agricultural work if school is in session where they live, unless they are at least 16 years old. Formerly, it was legal to employ individuals under 16 if they had been excused from school."

He pointed out, however, that the law does not prevent the employment of children under 16 during school vacations, outside of school hours, or on holidays.

Nor does it interfere with the right of a parent to employ his own children on his own farm or farms.

Man Escapes From Cavein

SELDEN, N. Y., Aug. 22—Howard L. Hodges said today that aside from the dirt in his ears he's in pretty fine shape for a man who was buried yesterday.

Hodges, 37, literally climbed out of his own grave, with an assist from bystanders. Operating a bulldozer, he fell off into a 15-foot cesspool. The cesspool walls caved in under the weight of the 'dozer, and the driverless machine slid down over the mouth of the hole.

Only quick digging by Howard Hull, 31, and another workman brought Hodges out alive.

Dogs Get New Leash On Life

MT. VERNON, N. Y., Aug. 22—Mount Vernon's 3,300 dogs got a new leash on life today, thanks to Municipal Judge P. Raymond Sirignano.

He ruled that the city's year-old statute requiring permanent leashing of dogs is invalid. Dog owners fought the measure. They said it "frustrated" the canine population.

'Burma Surgeon' Said Linked With Rebels

RANGOON, Aug. 22—The Burmese government said Monday it has "substantial evidence" that Dr. Gordon S. Seagrave, the American physician who became famous as the beloved "Burma surgeon," is guilty of "close collaboration with the Karen rebels."

A communique said Seagrave was arrested and brought to Rangoon last Thursday for questioning concerning his activities. His interrogation is continuing.

Seagrave was arrested at his Namhkam mission hospital where for 28 years he had fought disease in Burma and ministered to the medical needs of the Burmese people.

Last September rebels from Kachin state occupied Namhkam after a fight around the famous Seagrave hospital, and later were driven out by state troops.

The Kachin rebels last year had linked forces with the Karen revolutionists in an abortive attempt to occupy Toungoo. The Karens have been trying to set up an independent state since Britain gave Burma independence in 1948.

Dr. Seagrave was with the late Gen. Joseph Stilwell in the 1942 retreat to India before the advancing Japanese.

Protest Entered Against Jeffreys

COLUMBUS, Aug. 22—Official announcement on a protest against the Independent candidacy of Raymond J. Jeffreys of Columbus is expected within the next few days.

Secretary of State Charles F. Sweeney said yesterday that two or three counties examining Jeffreys' petitions have not yet returned their findings to his office.

It is expected, however, that Jeffreys will be disqualified as a candidate for congressman-at-large because of an insufficient number of signatures on his petitions.

Charles J. Kochmit of Shaker Heights filed the formal protest to his candidacy.

at the time, later wrote a book about the famous incident entitled "Burma Surgeon," which became a best-seller.

World Tension Brings Increase In Drink Addicts

MADISON, Wis., Aug. 22—The tense international situation was blamed today for an all-time high in alcoholic addiction in the United States.

Dr. E. M. Jellinek of Fort Worth, Texas, estimated there are 950,000 addicted drinkers in the country as compared with 600,000 in 1941.

Dr. Jellinek, director of the Yale institute of Alcoholic Studies of the Southwest, said hot and cold wars are responsible for the increase.

He addressed the Summer session of alcohol studies at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, sponsored by the Wisconsin Extension Division and the Wisconsin State Bureau of Alcohol Studies.

Dr. Jellinek noted an increase in addiction among women. He said this is the chief factor in the overall current figure and explained:

"The war put women in a male environment and gave them their own income. There were also wholesale movements from one place to another, and anxieties and fears resulting from worry about their men overseas."

Dr. Jellinek said he believes most of these women were moderate drinkers in the early 1940s and "only now are blossoming as full-blown alcoholics."

Plow Contestants Are Selected

MARYSVILLE, Aug. 22—Martin Cummins of Lewistown Route 1 and William J. Lehnhart of Nevada Route 2 will represent the nine-county area surrounding Marysville in the state and national plowing championships Sept. 12-13 at Urbana.

Cummins bettered seven other contestants in winning the con-tourplowing championship yesterday at the Mullaney farm near Marysville. Edward Hardin o. Marysville Route 2 placed second and Bill Winkler of Springfield Route 4 took third.

Lehnhart placed ahead of nine other contestants in the level plowing tests. Earl Atha of Morral Route 1 took second and Carl Gundrum of Galion Route 2 finished third.

The state meet will be conducted Sept. 12 at Urbana. The national test will be conducted the following day.

Wooster Man Gets Chief Counsel Job

COLUMBUS, Aug. 22—W. Harper Annat, of Wooster, prepared today to assume his new duties as chief counsel to Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy.

Duffy offered the newly vacated job to Annat yesterday and the assistant attorney general in charge of tax matters accepted within a matter of hours.

He succeeds William C. Bryant, of Columbus, who was appointed Saturday to the Franklin County common pleas court.

National crime figures were first published in 1930.

Cortisone Drug Price Slash Is Announced

RAHWAY, N. J., Aug. 22—A drastic slash was announced in the price of Cortisone, the new drug which has had remarkable results in the treatment of rheumatoid arthritis.

The drug, originally in such rare supply that it cost $200 a gram, was cut from $95 a gram to $50 by Merck and Co. of Rahway. This was the fifth reduction in the price of the drug since it was put into production a year ago.

Officials of the drug manufacturing concern said the new price cut was due to improved engineering and production methods.

The company's scientists also held out the hope that the rare substance now obtained only from ox bile may be made from other sources.

The hormone product not only has had spectacular effects in the control of rheumatic diseases, but has shown value in the treatment of bronchial asthma, inflammatory eye disease, skin disorders and some types of cancer.

The Merck Co. said "good supplies" of the drug have now been made available to more than 6,500 hospitals.

Cleveland Man Opposes Weygandt

COLUMBUS, Aug. 22 — Francis B. Douglass, Cleveland attorney formerly of Columbus will oppose Carl V. Weygandt in his bid for reelection as chief justice of the Ohio supreme court.

Douglass was chosen unanimously yesterday by the Republican state central committee to replace Common Pleas Judge Walter B. Wanamaker of Akron as the GOP candidate for the chief justice's position.

Wanamaker withdrew from the race last week on the ground the salary of the chief justice is not sufficient.

Douglass trailed Wanamaker, 127,849 votes to 194,985, for the GOP nomination in the May primaries.

LADY WRESTLERS

RADIO Moscow has added lady wrestling to the long list of things about the United States which it doesn't like. In contrast with most Russian animadversions, this one is not without merit.

For the benefit of those unfamiliar with American television programs, Radio Moscow gives this version of what happens: "Two women enter the ring and start pummeling each other. This lasts until one faints." Radio Moscow wants to know "what is the worth of sport like womens wrestling?"

It is a good question, and one that has been asked by thousands of Americans. Again like many Americans, Radio Moscow could have included men's wrestling and the roller derby, ancient vaudeville acts and cowboy-and-Indian pictures to its list. Such things the adjective-loving Russians would describe as the infantilism of a decadent, bourgeois, plutocratic, reactionary society.

Actually, all they prove is that some television programs are pretty bad. What Moscow overlooks is that Americans value their way of life precisely because it permits them to indulge bad taste and to pursue foolish hobbies.

Freedom of choice in art, literature, amusement, food and clothing produces some horrible vulgarities, but a system which forces every one to accept the choice of a few can't be much fun.

NEWS FROM KOREA

THE NEWS from Korea must be read with a lot of optimism and faith if it is to bring comfort to the American people. Where at first it was all bad, now it is a sort of mixture of good and bad.

What forces the U. S. has been able to muster in Korea have fought with gallantry and sheer bravery attempting to overcome the odds against them. But even the stout hearts of American soldiers cannot overcome the odds of superior numbers of men and weapons.

American forces have not only lacked numbers, but have suffered from a lack of coordination. U. S. planes have done a fine job, but outnumbered ground forces have been unable to fully exploit the advantage of air dominance.

Here at home there has been criticism for the lack of authentic information from the front. What the American people want, of course, is word that the U. S. is winning the war. The American people may just as well resign themselves to the fact that this war will not be won overnight.

George E. Sokolsky's

These Days

Sometimes, I am asked why I like to wander away from great topics in the news to the simplicities of life in the Berkshires, where the pine and maple blend with oak, birch and wild cherry to make an atmosphere.

Reporters, like motion picture actors, are typed in the minds of readers. If a peep-hole columnist writes a serious thought, he is sometimes charged with stepping out of his role. If what Pegler calls a double-dome wanders into the by-paths of human interest, he is accused sometimes of deserting his post.

Life is not a mosaic of big events, which look little, almost microscopic, in history, nor is it the tale of great men who, for a moment only, bestride the pages of newspapers to disappear forever in their obituary columns. To popularize a vice-president for a few seconds of eternity, they called him a Veep, but most of our vice-presidents, no matter what their ponderosity, are forgotten even in their own generation.

Historic life is a continuous story of a whole people, of simple people as well as those who clamor in the spotlight often of their own devising. I feel that so strongly each Summer as I work in these Berkshire Hills, reading the books, pamphlets and monographs that have accumulated over the season when perhaps the legs move more often than the mind.

And here, too, there has been the leisure, in the midst of a war, to listen to an enormous quantity of Bach, done as only Koussevitzky and the Boston Symphony can do it at Tanglewood. It is so difficult to listen to music in a hall, in a big city, after having heard Bach's B Minor Mass, with a chorus trained by Hugh Ross, at Tanglewood. The mountains do something to music, and listening without pressure and leaving the place, without street noises and street smells, gives the listener a chance to recall and to remember not only the music but his emotional responses.

Up here, the folks are simple, too. The other day, my friend, Edward S. Rogers, died at the age of 86. He had, for decades, been the treasurer of the Mutual Savings Bank in Lee. He did not change the world nor leave his impress on the map of nations, but he helped folks when they could not meet their mortgages or when they had to send a better-than-ordinary child to school, or when the husband died and the widow knew nothing about handling her small savings. That was his job in life and he developed a personality to meet his social responsibilities.

In this very small town, he was a very big man, but that hardly mattered. For his was one of those prodigious memories that knew not about literature and history but the very essence of our culture. He could recite most of the best poetry and I have often suspected that some that he quoted to make a point was of his own composition. He was more than acquainted with Beethoven, Brahms, Bach and Mozart. He was one of the founders of Tanglewood.

Methods Used in Treatment Of Stubborn Skin Disorder

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

MANY skin disorders are traditionally stubborn, but perhaps none is more difficult to handle than psoriasis. In this disorder, there are red patches on the skin covered with fine, silvery scales. Itching is present in most cases, and, in some, it is intense.

The cause of this disorder is not known but apparently the tendency toward it is inherited, though the disease itself may not appear until a further stimulus, such as infection, physical illness, or an emotional upset touches it off. Seemingly, some defect in the glands of internal secretion, together with an upset of the involuntary nervous system, also plays a role in bringing about this skin reaction.

Beaks of Arms

There are many types of this condition. One variety is known as chronic localized psoriasis. This disorder particularly affects the back of the arms and the front of the legs. Not a great deal of treatment is necessary for it, and excessive treatment may only make the condition worse. A preparation known as thiorium-X, which is dissolved in alcohol and applied once every ten days, is safe and helpful in some cases. At other times, a mild ointment may be of value.

A more common type of psoriasis is that which affects larger areas of the body. It is suggested that these patients may do better if treated in a hospital. They should be kept at rest in bed and relieved of responsibilities. An effort should be made to find and eliminate any infections in the teeth, tonsils, or sinuses. It is also necessary to make certain that the patient is not suffering from tuberculosis or syphilis, both of which may contribute to the development of psoriasis.

Coal Tar Ointment

Quelling drugs, such as the barbiturates, may be employed with benefit in a patient with psoriasis. One form of treatment, which seems to be quite successful, is to apply a crude coal tar ointment at night. The next morning the ointment is removed with mineral oil; then ultra-violet ray treatments are given for a period of six days. After the ultra-violet ray treatment, the patient has a bath with soap and warm water, and remains in the bath for from one-half to two hours. The scales, which rub off easily, are removed during the bath. After the bath, a thick coat of tar ointment is again applied. The treatment is carried out for a period of from two to four weeks.

While permanent cure for this condition has not been found, with proper treatment, under the direction of a physician, it can be kept under control.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

S. O.: My daughter, 14 years old, has marks left on her cheeks from chicken-pox. Is it possible for them to be removed?

Answer: Recently it has been discovered that such marks may be made less noticeable by sandpapering them while the patient is under a general anesthetic. This treatment must be carried out by a physician. Unless the marks are quite severe, treatment would not be advisable.

Try, Stop Me

A thoughtless wise-crack by a New York drama critic almost nipped a young actor's career in the bud some years ago. The actor's name was Gudo Nazo.

The Black Rose

by THOMAS B. COSTAIN

Walter of Gurnie, the illegitimate son of the Earl of Lonsford, leaves Oxford in 1273 after a fight with townsmen. He and another student, Tristram, go to Antioch and meet on Antioch, a trader, who arranges for them to join a caravan to the Orient. Antioch is sending a messenger to Kublai Khan, a copy of beautiful, gentle and beautiful. The Englishman catches a glimpse of this girl, Maryam, who is reputedly half-European.

CHAPTER EIGHT
ANTHEMUS was saying in an angry voice, "I didn't send for you, Maryam."

"I know. But I am here. I have just heard what you propose to do with me."

Antioch called to Father Theodore in a loud voice, "You sickly little house rat, bring that Chinese woman here and be quick about it."

Turning back to the girl, the merchant began to speak in angry tones. She moved slowly across the room until she was directly in front of him. If Walter had not been watching Anthemus with a keen interest in the moods of his future employer, he would have seen that she was facing her formidable brother with more courage than might have been expected. Her hair was short and was massed about her head in close dark curls. Her face was turned sideways toward them, displaying an unmistakable Grecian purity of feature.

She was answering her brother in low and insistent tones which sometimes rose to a note of passionate protest. Several times she appeared on the point of tears, but for the most part she showed no signs of fear.

When Father Theodore returned with the woman, the debate became a three-sided one. The girl showed dismay at the formidable appearance of Hoochin B'abahu, and at first she had little to say. Walter noticed that she cringed away from the heavily ringed fingers of the red-haired procuress rested on her shoulder.

The talk was carried on in a language that Walter did not recognize. It had a guttural quality, and he was to learn later that it was the polyglot tongue of the Asiatic trails, a mixture of many languages. The girl's voice had begun to rise again on an insistent note. Once, in answer to something the Chinese woman had said, she cried out an answer unmistakable in language. It was, "No, No!" Hoochin B'abahu said, "Times, times," which meant, just as surely, "Yes, yes." When the girl shook her head, the woman went into a long and vehement tirade.

Father Theodore ran over to the two Englishmen. "I think," he said, "you had better go. Wait for me outside."

Back in the anteroom, which was now deserted, they looked at each other and grinned.

It was a quarter of an hour later when Father Theodore joined them. "He is in a raging temper," he reported. "It has been a most trying experience. He has decided to send her off at once. The first caravan will leave in the morning, and you are to be ready to go also."

He looked at Walter with a new respect. "Antemus seems to have taken a fancy to you, young man. At least, he is sure you will prove of use to him. Instructions have already been given to have you both fitted out for the journey. I am to wait and travel with him in the second caravan."

"In the meantime I am to give you a lesson in the language of the trails. We will have the night only to drill some of it into your heads. It is an easy enough tongue to pick up. There has always been a jumbled means of communication for all the races who mingle on the silk trails and in the bazaars, but of late years it has been changing a great deal. The Mongols rule all the continent, and so most of the words used are Mongolian. It has no name, but I call it Bi-chia. That means I-you in their outlandish tongue." He added after a moment: "There are some Chinese words of course. You must begin to call the country we are going to China. Cathay applies mostly to the northern part, which is now under Mongolian rule."

Walter said anxiously, "What is to be done with the sister now?"

"She will be punished. Naturally. Antemus will see to that."

Tristram, of course, had not been able to follow any of the talk. He leaned forward now and touched Walter on the arm. "I am inclined to believe the story that her father was a Christian slave," he said. "Did you notice her closely at all, Wat? She has blue eyes. Do you know what I have been thinking? I have been thinking they are English eyes!"

"May God give you the kingdom of heaven. This boy will be your servant," said Father Theodore, thrusting forward a diminutive specimen with a grinning black face under an enormous and dirty turban.

The boy placed a hand on his breast and said, "Bi, Mahmoud ibn Asseult."

"That is his name," explained the priest. "Mahmoud is a good boy. I picked him out for you myself. He is a willing worker, and he will steal anything you need. He comes from near the Red Sea, and I think there is some Abyssinian in him."

"But will we need a servant?" said Walter.

"Have you ever packed a camel?" There was an impatient note in the priest's voice. "Have you ever pegged one out for the night? Are you light-fingered? You can't get along in a caravan without stealing the things you lack. You may be sure of this: when Antemus provides a servant, there is a real need for one. Take him and be thankful."

The boy had a twinkle in his eye, and a jaunty way of standing with arms akimbo which was completely foreign to the stern dignity of the nomad people. His whole attitude said as plainly as words, "I like you, my masters, and I will make you a very good boy."

The priest tapped first Walter and then Tristram on their shoulders, saying in a loud tone: "Master Walter, Master Tristram."

Mahmoud repeated with some difficulty, Master Walter, Master Tristram. Then he touched his breast again and said with a still broader grin, "Bi, Mahmoud ibn Asseult."

Father Theodore said something in a guttural tongue, and the boy turned and vanished in the crowded square. They were standing beneath the ruined walls of Antioch, which had not been rebuilt since the last assault at the hands of Egyptian armies. The place buzzed with the most intense activity in preparation for the start.

Walter motioned toward a section of the square where all the camels had white trappings and sky-blue ostrich plumes bobbing on their nose cords. "Does that mean the women are coming with us?" he asked.

"All of them. The second caravan will have to travel much faster than this one."

"What about the sister?"

"She has given in. What would you expect? Antemus was thorough about the whipping. He had her stripped to the waist and gave her a dozen strokes himself. I hear that all the other sisters were brought in to watch because he thought that would hurt her more than the blows. She didn't make a sound."

"What is he saying?" asked Tristram.

Fearing an outburst on the part of his friend, Walter answered grimly, "I will tell you later."

Mahmoud returned at this point, and it was apparent he was upset over something also. He poured out a long story to the Nestorian priest.

"It is just as I expected," reported the latter. "Antemus has been most frugal in his arrangements. Mahmoud here says your tent is old and full of holes. He says everything provided for you is beneath the touch of lepers. The camels are the worst. You have been given the three mangiest camels to be found between here and the land of the red dust."

"We are not in a position to complain," said Walter, uneasily. "After all, we are to travel on his bounty."

The girls were putting in an appearance now, dressed in white and heavily veiled. Walter thought, as he watched, of the yearly levy of Athenian maidens who had been sent so many years before to feed the Cretan Minotaur. He noticed, however, that these harem-bred beauties were not saddened at the prospect before them. They chattered among themselves and even laughed in occasional bursts of laughter.

Hoochin B'abahu was in the lead, planting her feet down aggressively as she walked and twisting her head about in all directions. That she was searching for causes of complaint was apparent when she stopped abruptly and pointed at the camels with the white trappings, saying something in her high-pitched voice to Bird Who Feathers His Nest La Chung.

"Is the sister there?" asked Walter.

The priest nodded his head. "She will ride immediately after the old hells," he said. "She is the pick of the lot and, after all, she is his sister; so she gets the place of honor. There, the one taking her seat on the camel with plumes in its topknot."

The activity in the square came suddenly to its highest peak. A Mongolian horseman raised his arm and then wheeled his mount toward the gap in the wall which had once been a gate. Hoochin B'abahu lowered her great bulk into a horse-drawn palanquin, and the procession in white fell into single file behind her. The caravan was under way.

"Up! Up!" shouted Father Theodore, who had caught the infection. "You are to ride at the end, but you must be ready."

Tristram gave his friend a rueful smile. "Well, if we must, the sooner we get it over the better. Here goes!" He swung one long leg over the hump of his camel.

Kiernan's ONE MAN'S OPINION

If that's still a "police action" in Korea it's odd that none of the wagons have come back yet.

And the way General Hershey talks, the Administration must be planning on opening another dozen precincts.

Some question continuing use of the phrase "police action" since one fellow wrote home and says "funny thing about this... I'm getting shot at just like it was war."

But we understand "police action" is official right through October so we won't be confused by changing terminology while we're busy with the election campaigns.

Some don't like use of the word "war" but it went very well in the phrase "all aid short of war" right up to the day we, unfortunately, got blasted into the war we were all short of aiding.

It should still be usable since the evidence is we're short again.

The critic, reviewing his first Broadway appearance, convulsed everybody (with the possible exception of the actor) by observing "Gudo Nazo was Nazo Gudo."

In Hollywood there is one eager little man who loves to point out celebrities. Groucho Marx was dining with him one evening, when a stranger walked past the table. The little man grabbed Groucho's arm and whispered hoarsely, "You know who that is? Ann Rutherford's agent!"

Back from his annual jaunt to Hollywood, Irving Hoffman commented, "It's good to see the same old sights—only I wish they'd wear less lipstick."

My New York

By MEL HEIMER

NEW YORK—I have met Miss Virginia Mayo several times in the course of my long and reasonably honorable newspaper career and at no time have I ever tabbed Miss Mayo as a deep, or double-dome, thinker.

I have had her figured as a beautiful blonde who at one time in her life cracked the whip over a Pansy the Horse act in Billy Rose's Diamond Horseshoe, later made many movies in which she looked well-eyed at Danny Kaye, and, on the occasion of my last visit with her, received me in her Manhattan hotel suite with what seemed to little old sensitive me to be an extraordinary lack of interest in the proceedings.

Come to think of it, the first time I met her she was knitting, a piece of business that made me look frantically at her press agent and then quickly for the nearest exit, and that may have prejudiced me against her powers of the intellect.

However, it seems my figures on Miss Mayo are wrong. She is no three-furlong sprinter in the mind-over-matter sweepstakes. Miss Mayo, it seems, has been doing a lot of thinking lately and she has arrived at a number of conclusions. One of these is that the women in New York City are over-dressed—that they believe "real style," as Miss Mayo puts it, means bright and heavy jewelry, expensive fur coats and large and unusual hats.

"They merely look, as my husband says, like well-kept graves," Miss Mayo says. Miss Mayo is married to a movie performer named Michael O'Shea, whose wit probably is dazzling but who has a piece or two to go up the road before he catches Clifton Webb in the men's fashion handbag.

At the time Miss Mayo made these meaningful remarks, I missed them, but an alert reader of mine in Norwich, Conn., named Dorothy Farrell, who enjoys gently needing me about New York, so as to set me off in mounting rages of fury wrote me and brought me up to date.

So, I studied the fair Virginia's bias against our poor, blamable, over-dressed Manhattan women, coupled with a similar attack on "the fashion dictators," and I must admit it gave me food for thought. At least a shrimp cocktail's worth of food.

IF WEARING BRIGHT JEWELRY, expensive fur coats and unusual hats means that one is a well-kept grave, in Mr. O'Shea's pithy phrase, I am afraid I am on the verge of necrophilia.

Here in Gotham we have a handful of women, such as the Cushing sisters—Mrs. William Paley, Mrs. Jock Whitney and Mrs. Vincent Astor—Mrs. Cornelius Vanderbilt and the defending champion, Mrs. Harrison Williams, who probably have more fur coats, bright jewelry and unusual hats than anybody else.

Furthermore, Mrs. Harrison Williams, unless my tired eyes have deceived me on the occasion or two that I have spied her at Twenty-One, frequently tucks her hair blue. All this should make these charming ladies terribly over-dressed, but just for a rough comparison I would like to suggest that next to them Miss Mayo might appear like a poor relation.

It is Miss Mayo's theory that women in her native St. Louis, as well as other outposts like Dallas and Chicago, dress much more smartly than New Yorkers. If she means that they dress conservatively and with all the chic that St. Louis and Dallas shops can bring them, she is completely right. But—and I lay myself on the mercy of St. Louisans and Dallasites—I think that if most of those women came to New York, they'd be swallowed up in the crowd.

The greatest dresser in the world today on a modest budget is the New York white-collar girl. However, do you think she wouldn't wear Jacques Fath originals or a beautiful and startling Christian Dior gown if she had the money? It is that simple.

The only reason St. Louis and Dallas women don't "over-dress" like Manhattan girls is that they don't have the money. We have all the money here in New York. Everybody knows that, and I only wish I could convince the man in the bank's loan department.

MISS MAYO, who HAS TRAVELED A LONG ROAD from whip-cracker to style expert, says that she is going to rebel against the fashion dictators and wear what she wants "even if I become known as Miss Dowdy of 1950." This is commendable, although there is every chance she may get her wish. Extreme styles are all right, she says, but most clothes manufacturers make their money from women who prefer saner styles.

It is, she says, just like Hollywood. "We make a few different pictures every year, but most of our money comes from the old standbys—westerns, musicals and boy-meets-girl," she says.

I think Miss Mayo's argument has turned around and slapped her in the face, like a wet fish. Hollywood may make most of its money from its old standbys, but to say they are lovely to look at, or works of art, would be too much.

Tell me, incidentally, did Betty Grable ever get Dan Dailey? I lost track, their fourth or fifth old standby.

Marriage Ceremonies Are Performed For Two Couples Over Weekend

Rites Held In Church

Two Sunday afternoon weddings united in marriage Miss Marilyn Winner and Paul Knece of Circleville and Miss Mary Ruth Tanner of Mt. Sterling and William Everett Beavers of Commercial Point.

The chapel of Circleville Church of Christ was the setting for the double ring ceremony of Miss Winner and Mr. Knece performed by the Rev. Harley Bennett. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ruby Winner of 923 South Washington street. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Knece of 455 Watt street.

The bride wore white organza over slipper satin featuring a round yoke of flowered crepe organza, a tight bodice and a ruffled peplum terminating in a bustle. Her headpiece was of matching material. Her colonial bouquet of pink and white roses was tied with matching satin ribbons.

Preceding the bride down the aisle was maid-of-honor, Miss Evelyn Drum, who wore an organza dress of cool green. Her bouquet was also pink and white roses in colonial design tied with streamers of pink and white.

Donald Young, brother-in-law of the bridegroom served as best man.

At the reception for immediate families held in the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Winner greeted guests in a navy blue suit and a corsage of red roses. The bridegroom's mother wore navy blue also with a shoulder corsage of red roses.

The couple will honeymoon in Niagara Falls and on their return will live at 929 South Washington street.

Christian church of Mt. Sterling was the scene of the wedding when Miss Mary Ruth Tanner became the bride of William Everett Beavers Jr.

The bride's grandfather, the Rev. C. C. Ryan of Bucland was officiating pastor.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Tanner of Mt. Sterling. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Everett Beavers of Commercial Point.

The bride wore white net over satin. Her finger tip veil was edged with lace. She wore her paternal great grandmother's gold earrings. She carried a white Bible decorated with flowers.

Mrs. George Ryan Tanner, sister-in-law of the bride served as matron of honor in lavender net with matching accessories. Her bouquet was of purple asters.

Miss Helen Louise Beavers, sister of the bridegroom, was bride's maid. She wore pale green and carried rose asters.

Flower girl, Virginia Sue Beavers, was in a floor length dress of white net with matching hat and mitts.

Dr. H. Virgil Beavers, brother of the bridegroom served as best man. George Ryan Tanner, brother of the bride was head usher.

Nuptial music was provided by Mrs. Max Chenoweth, organist, and Miss Mary Gearhardt and Jerry Rasor, vocalists.

A reception followed the ceremony after which the couple left for a honeymoon in Cleveland and Boston.

Mr. Beavers is a senior in Ohio State College of Veterinary Medicine. The couple will reside in Mt. Sterling.

By BILLY ROSE

This morning's batch of mail included the following from a man in Great Neck, L. I.:
Dear Billy Rose:

As you probably noticed in the papers on August 7, a boy named Henry Turrill found a sack of undelivered mail in the rear of a junked automobile on the outskirts of Great Neck. It consisted mostly of Christmas cards which had been mailed in December, 1947, and the Post Office, after apologizing for the delay, promised to deliver them the next day.

Well, one of the pieces of mail was addressed to me—a letter from my wife, postmarked Cleveland, Ohio, and dated December 19, 1947. But what was in that letter won't make much sense to you unless I first tell you something about myself.

Shortly after I was married in '44, the draft boards began taking anything with two legs, and after ten months in Texas I was put on a boat and shipped off to that swamp called Okinawa. By the time I got there, the shooting was over, so I guess I was better off than most of the boys, but it was a dull and muddy sort of life, and I was plenty glad when I was shipped back and discharged in '47.

IT WAS two days before Christmas when I arrived in Great Neck, and you can imagine how let down I felt when I found that my wife wasn't there waiting for me. Instead, there was a note on the table saying her mother wasn't feeling well, and she had gone to Cleveland. She'd be back in a few days—that if, if everything was all right.

This, of course, wasn't the homecoming I'd been figuring on and I took it pretty hard. But realizing there was nothing I could do about it—her mother didn't even have a phone—I sent her a Merry Christmas wire and told her to hurry back as soon as she could. It wasn't until after New Year's, however, that my wife showed up.

That was in '47, and in the past three years a lot of nice things have happened to us—a son, a pretty good job, and most of the mortgage paid off on our house. None of which would have come about if the letter my wife sent me from Cleveland had arrived on schedule.

In it, you see, she confessed there had been another man while I'd been away—nobody she cared anything about, just someone who had happened along while she was lonely and miserable. She said if I didn't want her to come back to write and say so and she'd understand, but if she didn't hear from me she'd figure I had forgiven her and would return and try to make it up to me.

When the mailman handed me this three-year-old letter a couple of weeks ago, I wondered what the heck was in it, so I ripped it open and read it right there on the porch. And corny as it sounds, all the time I was reading it I could hear the vacuum going inside and my son making a racket in his upstairs bedroom.

Chances are, had I gotten this letter when I was fresh out of the Army and plenty jump, I would have called my wife every dirty name and busted up our marriage as fast as the law would allow.

But standing there on the porch I thought of the three good years we'd had together, and the thirty more, maybe, coming up—not to mention the fact that I hadn't always been a saint myself. So, I put the letter in my pocket, and that night after work went to a jewelry store and made a down-payment on one of those wristwatches with little red stones.

When I handed the present to my missus after dinner, she said, "What's this—Christmas in August?"

"Exactly, baby," I said, and then I told her I had finally gotten her letter and how happy I was it had come thirty months late.

Since then we have talked a lot about this lucky accident, and today we decided there's a lesson in the story which might help a lot of other couples who feel like busting up their marriages the first time something goes wrong. If you run this letter in your column, we'd appreciate it, of course, if you didn't use our real names.

Sincerely,

Green, Ferguson Set To Address AFL Convention

COLUMBUS, Aug. 22 — AFL President William Green and State Auditor Joseph Ferguson are scheduled to address the Ohio Federation of Labor Convention today in Columbus.

U. S. Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin delivered the main address of the opening session of the four-day convention yesterday. He termed criticism of the administration's policy in Korea as "simply not justified."

The secretary lashed out chiefly at criticism from U. S. Sen. Robert A. Taft, Ohio's senior senator. Tobin declared:

"Mr. Taft's record is not to be criticized merely because he is opposed to the policies of the Truman Administration. We need a helpful opposition in a democracy. But there is a point beyond which opposition becomes something other than helpful."

Tobin continued that "for anyone to say that we asked for this attack because of our foreign policy is simply not justified in the light of the historical facts and certainly not in the light of the critics' own record."

Both the AFL organization and the Ohio CIO Council have endorsed Ferguson, Taft's democratic opponent for the Nov. 7 election.

It is estimated there will be about 44,775,000 families in the United States in 1960.

Smoke Bomb Is Thrown Into Cafe

CLEVELAND, Aug. 22 — A smoke bomb was tossed into an east side cafe last night for the second time in three days.

Nine persons were in the establishment—Jim's Cafe—when smoke filled the rooms, but none of them was injured.

The first such bomb was thrown into the tavern early Saturday, driving 20 persons to the sidewalk.

Miss Clara Stamas, the owner, said she believed the bombs were tossed by teen-agers who were refused drinks at the bar Friday night.

Postoffice Clerks To Ask Wage Hikes

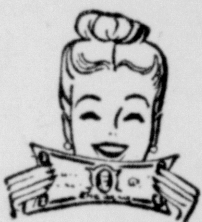

CLEVELAND, Aug. 22 — The AFL-National Federation of Post Office Clerks will ask Congress for wage hikes and more generous sick leave and vacation privileges.

Some 1,000 delegates representing 102,000 postal employees at the clerks' 26th biennial convention in Cleveland called for these benefits late yesterday at the opening of the conferences.

The union's national executive board will determine the amount of the wage increase to be asked.

The cargo was on a truck that lost a wheel on a busy Brooklyn street Sunday, and until repairs were made all traffic was widely detoured. A detail of police and state troopers chaperoned the truck out of the city.

Chemical Company Begins Expansion

CLEVELAND, Aug. 22 — The B. F. Goodrich Chemical Company has started an expansion program at its Avon Lake Chemical Plant.

The new facility, covering seven acres, will consist of a 40,000 squarefoot, three storied process building and a 40,000-square foot warehouse. The project will be completed by mid-1951 at an undisclosed cost.

Family Allowance Bill Submitted To Senate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—Senate Armed Service Chairman Tydings (D) Md., Monday submitted to the Senate a committee-approved Family Allowance Bill for dependents of members of the Armed Services.

He asked prompt action on the measure providing for family allowances ranging from $45 to $75 and the serviceman contributes $40 to $80, depending on his rank.

The bill provides for entitlements with more than 2 dependents but sets forth a policy of inducting those with more than three, particularly in the lower grades.

Tydings' original bill set a policy against induction of those with "three or more," but as approved by the committee it is changed to "more than three."

It was explained that the change was made because the services reported they would lose too many veterans in calling reserve personnel into service.

THE POLICY does not set a fast rule, but says that it shall be followed "to the greatest practical extent consistent with the needs of the several armed services," that secretaries shall "refrain from employing" enlisted men of grade four or below who have more than three dependents.

During hearings the committee was told that during World War II Selective Service had no rule about the number of dependents, but that draft boards weighed that factor along with the nature of the registrant's job and earning capacity in deciding whether to induct him.

Meantime a House Armed Services subcommittee voted to provide military hospital care on a limited basis to servicemen's dependents over the objection of the American Medical Association.

The house group approved an amendment to the legislation providing GI family allowances during the Korean crisis which would permit dependents to obtain medical care at military hospitals.

The amendment makes no provision, however, for depend-

Enemy Bolt Shot, Gen. Gay Says

KOREA, Aug. 22—A fighting general declared today that the enemy "has just about shot his bolt."

Maj. Gen. Hobart Gay, commander of the U. S. First Cavalry Division which has covered itself with glory in fighting on the Waegwan front above Taegu, predicted:

"We are going to start rolling them back soon."

"The enemy doesn't seem as eager as he did before."

"He's quiet and sometimes he's hard to locate at all."

"We know he's suffered shattering losses."

"When we start we will just keep going."

ents where no military or naval hospitals are available.

An AMA spokesman, Dr. Walter P. Martin of Norfolk, Va., argued that the provision as written is discriminatory inasmuch as it covers only those near military hospitals.

He suggested that some provision be made for the care of dependents at government expense in civilian hospitals, if necessary.

Jap Balloon-Bomb Explosion Marked

BLY, Ore., Aug. 22—A bronze plaque stands embedded in stone today in the forestland site 12 miles from Bly where six persons died five years ago in the explosion of a Japanese balloon-bomb.

The plaque was dedicated Sunday before about 500 persons on the Weyerhaeuser Timber Company tree farm.

The balloon bomb claimed the lives of Mrs. Elsie Mitchell, 26; Roy Jay Gifford, 13; Edward Enter, 13; Dick Patzke, 14; Joan Patzke, 13; and Sharmen Shoemaker.

Barnyard Queen Pushed To Glory

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—The government is pushing the barnyard queen to greater glory.

Although hens are expected to crack all records this year with a mighty egg production of almost five billion dozens, the Agriculture Department says the use of ultraviolet light might make that kind of output look sick.

Experiments with ultraviolet light show that a hen's productive capacity can be boosted as much as 19 percent over present lays.

Maj. Gen. Frank Heilman

FOLLOWING government action seizing the strike-stalled road and a court injunction in Buffalo, N. Y., striking Switchmen's Union members have returned to work on the Rock Island Railroad in Chicago. Called upon by the Army to operate the railroad in the current emergency was Maj. Gen. Frank Heilman. (International)

Korea To Get British Troops

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—A State Department spokesman estimated today that Britain will supply between 5,000 and 7,000 troops in the Korean war.

The spokesman, Michael McDermott, revealed this in a formal statement expressing appreciation of the British decision to send two battalions of ground forces from Hongkong.

It is estimated that 2,000 troops will be moved from the Far Eastern crown colony.

McDermott said that aside from their number, the contribution serves to "reemphasize" that the Korean conflict is a collective action.

McDermott added that the British have pledged a brigade, which they are assembling, and which will include armor, artillery and other equipment.

Attorney To Give Itemized Account To Commission

COLUMBUS, Aug. 22 — A disbarred Zanesville attorney must appear before the State Industrial Commission again next Monday with an itemized account of his services while handling workmen's compensation cases.

Thomas A. Joseph, who was barred from law practice following his conviction in Franklin County's "divorce mill" case, was summoned before the commission to explain allegedly excessive fees.

Appearing with Joseph was his Columbus co-counsel in one case, Clyde R. Elliott.

After a brief hearing, the commission directed Elliott and Joseph to draw up detailed accounts of their services in the injury compensation cases of two Mt. Sterling brothers-in-law.

Joseph and Elliott are to appear before the commission next Monday for a continuation of their hearing.

The commission held in abeyance a ruling on a motion by Elliott and Joseph which asked that the case be dismissed. Charges against the two were brought by Abe Knight and John R. Leake, both of Mt. Sterling.

Knight charged that Joseph and Elliott claimed a $625 fee after collecting a $1,250 injury compensation award last Fall.

Joseph was said to have returned $200 to Knight. In Leake's case, however, he was charged with retaining half of a $600 injury award.

According to the commission normal fees in such cases range from 20 to about 33 per cent of the award.

Do You Really Want to Take Off Ugly Fat?

Recently there have been a number of new reducing preparations on the market, some of them based on the diet and vitamin "plan." It is obvious that vitamins will not reduce the body weight, so one must depend on diet to reduce. But it is also obvious that one cannot go on a strenuous diet over a protracted period, and any weight lost will be restored if the former eating habits are gone back to.

So what to do? Well, here is a tip to you "overweight gals" who want to fight "the Battle of the Bulges" in a different way. Ask any well stocked Ohio druggist for four ounces of Rennel. Mix with 12 ounces of grapefruit juice and take two tablespoonsful twice a day.

This preparation contains nothing harmful and the makers agree to refund your money on the very first bottle if it does not show you the way to lose ugly fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves.

Rennel is low in cost and is not based on the diet and vitamin "plan." You need never know a hungry moment while reducing with Rennel.

Family Allowance Bill Submitted To Senate

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—Senate Armed Service Chairman Tydings (D) Md., Monday submitted to the Senate a committee-approved Family Allowance Bill for dependents of members of the Armed Services.

He asked prompt action on the measure providing for family allowances ranging from $45 to $75 and the serviceman contributes $40 to $80, depending on his rank.

The bill provides for enlistees with more than 2 dependents but sets forth a policy of inducing those with more than three, particularly in the lower grades.

Tydings' original bill set a policy against induction of those with "three or more," but as approved by the committee it is changed to "more than three."

It was explained that the change was made because the services reported they would lose too many veterans in calling reserve personnel into service.

THE POLICY does not set a fast rule, but says that it shall be followed "to the greatest practical extent consistent with the needs of the several armed services," that secretaries shall "refrain from employing" enlisted men of grade four or below who have more than three dependents.

During hearings the committee was told that during World War II Selective Service had no rule about the number of dependents, but that draft boards weighed that factor along with the nature of the registrant's job and earning capacity in deciding whether to induct him.

Meantime a House Armed Services subcommittee voted to provide military hospital care on a limited basis to servicemen's dependents over the objection of the American Medical Association.

The house group approved an amendment to the legislation providing GI family allowances during the Korean crisis which would permit dependents to obtain medical care at military hospitals.

The amendment makes no provision, however, for depend-

Enemy Bolt Shot, Gen. Gay Says

KOREA, Aug. 22—A fighting general declared today that the enemy "has just about shot his bolt."

Maj. Gen. Hobart Gay, commander of the U. S. First Cavalry Division which has covered itself with glory in fighting on the Waegwan front above Taegu, predicted:

"We are going to start rolling them back soon."

"The enemy doesn't seem as eager as he did before."

"He's quiet and sometimes he's hard to locate at all."

"We know he's suffered shattering losses."

"When we start we will just keep going."

ents where no military or naval hospitals are available.

An AMA spokesman, Dr. Walter P. Martin of Norfolk, Va., argued that the provision as written is discriminatory inasmuch as it covers only those near military hospitals.

He suggested that some provision be made for the care of dependents at government expense in civilian hospitals, if necessary.

Jap Balloon-Bomb Explosion Marked

BLV, Ore., Aug. 22—A bronze plaque stands embedded in stone today in the forestland site 12 miles from Bly where six persons died five years ago in the explosion of a Japanese balloon-bomb.

The plaque was dedicated Sunday before about 500 persons on the Weyerhaeuser Timber Company tree farm.

The balloon bomb claimed the lives of Mrs. Elsie Mitchell, 26; Roy Jay Gifford, 13; Edward Enter, 13; Dick Patzke, 14; Joan Patzke, 13; and Sharmen Shoemaker.

Barnyard Queen Pushed To Glory

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—The government is pushing the barnyard queen to greater glory.

Although hens are expected to crack all records this year with a mighty egg production of almost five billion dozens, the Agriculture Department says the use of ultraviolet light might make that kind of output look sick.

Experiments with ultraviolet light show that a hen's productive capacity can be boosted as much as 19 percent over present lays.

Korea To Get British Troops

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—A State Department spokesman estimated today that Britain will supply between 5,000 and 7,000 troops in the Korean war.

The spokesman, Michael McDermott, revealed this in a formal statement expressing appreciation of the British decision to send two battalions of ground forces from Hongkong.

It is estimated that 2,000 troops will be moved from the Far Eastern crown colony.

McDermott said that aside from their number, the contribution serves to "reemphasize" that the Korean conflict is a collective action.

McDermott added that the British have pledged a brigade, which they are assembling, and which will include armor, artillery and other equipment.

Sokolsky's These Days

He also could recount the genealogy and history of every family in these parts and trusted men by their character rather than by a bank statement. Big city bankers can hardly do that these days, because bank examiners know nothing about character but only read reports. Yet, many a man who failed, and therefore needed help, eventually contributed brilliantly: I cite Thomas Edison as one example.

So Edward Rogers is dead and a new generation steps in with adding machines and even mechanical brains to aid them, but with less of the softness, gentleness and, at the same time, tough common sense that produced the old New England that, it seems centuries ago, built Ohio and Michigan and so much else of America.

One who deals with mighty events needs this respite, or else the perspective is gone and everything seems so important and everybody so colossal. Perhaps it is because so few of those of us who dwell and toil in cities leave them, as though on retreat, that humility has disappeared from our lives, particularly among our rulers. They strut their little stages, forgetting that as compared with one mountain peak we are all pigmies in time and space.

Pickaway County, Ohio

COURT OF COMMON PLEAS, PICKAWAY COUNTY, OHIO
Carl C. Kreider, Plaintiff vs.
Fred M. Kreider, G. Beatrice Kreider, Adelaide K. Reid, Elizabeth Lewis, Patty Lou Mallard, a minor, and Sandy Mallard, a minor and Ethel Kreider Defendants

No. 20280
Notice by Publication
Elizabeth Lewis residing in Bridgeport, Connecticut, a minor, residing in Bridgeport, Connecticut, and Sandy Mallard, a minor, residing in Bridgeport, Connecticut, and the unknown heirs of Michael D. Kreider will take notice that on the 21st day of July, 1950 Carl C. Kreider filed his petition in the Court of Common Pleas, Pickaway County, Ohio in case No. 20280 praying for partition of the following described property:

Tract No. I: Situated in the County of Pickaway, State of Ohio and in the Town of Tilton and bounded and described as follows, to-wit:

Being Lot Number six (6) in Square Number fourteen (14) in said town of village of Tilton.

Tract No. II: Situated in the Village of Tilton, County of Pickaway and State of Ohio known as Lot Number Five (5) in Square Number fourteen (14) of said Village of Tilton, Ohio.

That the defendants are required to answer on or before the twenty third day of September, 1950.

ORDINANCE NO. 3642
AN ORDINANCE TO VACATE STOUT ALLEY FOR SCHOOL

Whereas, on the 1st day of August, 1950, a petition by persons, to-wit: Board of Education of Circleville City School District owning lot in the immediate vicinity and abutting Stout Alley, (as shown on Plat of said City) was presented to Council praying that said alley between the following points: from Intersection Court Street to West Boundary of North-South Alley be vacated, and whereas the said Board of Education of Circleville City School District being the abutting property owner, having waived notice of vacation as required by Section 3727 O.G.C.

And Whereas Council, upon hearing, is satisfied that there is good cause for such vacation as prayed for, that it will not be detrimental to the general interest, and ought to be made, now therefore,

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE, OHIO:

SECTION 1: That Stout Alley also known as extension Broad Alley as shown and delineated on the Plat of the City of Circleville, Ohio from Intersection Court to West Boundary

HEAVIER TEAM THIS YEAR

First CHS Grid Session Attracts 45 Hopefuls

A total of 45 Circleville high school grid hopefuls answered the first call to practice Monday.

Among the satisfying number of youngsters who donned gym clothes for conditioning workouts in the first session were 13 of last year's lettermen who will seek starting berths this season.

Lettermen who answered the summons were Big John Valentine, Lowell Thomas, Bill Stout, Dave Coffland, Don Mancini, Gene Kerns, Charles Johnson, Bill Gillis, Jerry Rooney, John Dixie Harris, Cecil Sowers, Ted Raymond and John Cockrell.

Two other last year lettermen are expected to join the squad later. They are Linemen Harold McClarren and Bob Ford.

COACHES Steve Brudzinski and Tom Bennett agree that this year's aggregation looks as if it may be heavier than last year's championship squad.

Heaviest of the heavy making a bid for a varsity berth is Bill Gillis, tipping the scales at somewhere in the neighborhood of 225 pounds. Gillis last year helped in a tackle post.

So high appears the enthusiasm for this year's team that several eighth graders joined the older boys during Monday's opening session.

JIM COOK is a brand new addition to Circleville sports activities.

The youngster, now a junior in high school, has starred during the last two seasons on Ashville

Bright Future

Seen For Browns

BOWLING GREEN, Aug. 22—Well-stocked with valuable trading material, Coach Paul Brown is building his Cleveland Browns for a bright future in the new National Football League.

Brown has players on hand some of the rest of the squads in the league would gladly use. So the Browns' head mentor is able to trade some of his cast-offs to other teams for their future draft choices. Pack Harrington was traded to San Francisco last week, and Brown will probably make other such deals for players he may need later on.

Forced to reduce the Browns' squad to the 32 player limit, Brown likely will cut loose several Rookies this week. Jimmy Joe Robinson, halfback from Pittsburgh, and Emerson Cole of Toledo, seem the ones who will go.

high school basketball and baseball teams, while appearing eligible to take over any sports role thrust upon him. He will weigh in at about 190 pounds.

Coach Brudzinski said that the sledge and tackling and blocking dummies probably will be brought into use during Tuesday's practice periods. Pads probably will be put to use about Thursday.

The youngsters are to practice twice daily in Ted Lewis Park until school begins. The sessions are booked to begin at 9:30 a. m. and 3:30 p. m. daily.

Offer Is Made To Match Pacer Against Trotter

YONKERS, N. Y., Aug. 22—William H. Cane, Yonkers Raceway president, offered today to pit his pacer, Good Time, against Proximity, the record money-winning trotter of all time, in a special $35,000 mile match race on a winner take all basis. Tentative date set by Cane was Friday, Oct. 20, at Yonkers Raceway.

Cane stated he would put up $10,000 on behalf of his dynamic express pony, with an equal fee of $10,000 to be matched by Ralph Verhurst, owner of Proximity.

Cane also said that if Verhurst is willing to enter Proximity, the Yonkers Raceway management would add an additional $15,000 making a total of $35,000.

Cane challenged by the members of the U. S. Harness Writers Association, also offered to include crack pacers and trotters at a $10,000 entry fee. He stipulated that if six or more horses would start, the track would add $40,000 to the purse, making it the first $100,000 harness horse race in history.

This would be the first time in about 25 years that a pacer battled a trotter. One of the most famous duels was the battle between Peter Manning, a trotter, against Singe G., a pacer at Columbus, Ohio.

The 76-year old promoter of the world-famed Hambletonian made one other condition, that for each pacer named there must be an equal number of horses of the opposite gait.

American Grasp On Davis Cup Seen Slipping

NEW YORK, Aug. 22—America's tennis fathers started clutching the Davis Cup today as if it were something the sheriff is going to take away. The unhappy thing about that was, he probably is.

The loss suffered by Bill Talbert and Gardner Mulloy to Australia's Jack Bromwich and Frank Sedgman in the National Doubles final yesterday did not come as an utter surprise.

But it did serve to heighten America's dilemma for the Davis Cup challenge round against the Aussies at Forest Hills Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Reduced to the lowest common denominator, the U. S. must figure on losing the doubles Saturday.

It thus becomes incumbent upon Ted Schroeder and Tom Brown to win three of the four singles matches.

Since Australia undoubtedly will call upon Bromwich and Sedgman in singles, as well as to oppose America's Talbert-Mulloy team in the doubles, this means in effect that Schroeder—our No. 1—must beat both Bromwich and Sedgman, and Brown must beat one of them.

Thus the news of the 7-5, 8-6, 3-6, 6-1 National Doubles victory by the Australians yesterday bears no comfort at all.

Tiger Football Tickets On Sale

Circleville high school grid-iron fans can now begin buying reserve tickets for the coming 1950 Tiger football season.

Bill Stout, president of the Stouge Club of the high school, said the premium duets now are on sale and may be purchased from any Stouge Club member.

A section between the 35-yard lines on the south side of the field is being held for reservations. Seats in the north stands will be reserved by game.

Champion Crown Won By Woman In Trapshoot

VANDALIA, Aug. 22—Apparently nothing is safe from feminine hands these days.

Chubby Joan Pflueger of North Miami, Fla., proved the veracity of that statement once again yesterday in the most impressive feminine performance in the 51-year history of the Grand American Trapshoot.

The 18-year-old miss broke 100 targets in a row to tie three state title holders in the Champion of Champions event and then broke 74 of 75 targets in a shoot-off to snare the title.

She thus became the first woman ever to register a 100 straight score in the Champion of Champions test and also the first woman ever to win the Champion of Champions crown.

Miss Pflueger, a recent high school graduate, actually was in the tournament only on a rain check. Runner-up for the Florida state crown, she was able to take Clyde Wells' place yesterday when he was unable to compete.

KNOTTED WITH Miss Pflueger after the first 100 shots were H. H. Crossen of Gardiner, Mont.; Mercer Tennille of Shreveport, La.; Ned Lilly of Stanton, Mich.; and Dean Blank of Perrytown, Tex.

Crossen, Tennille and Lilly were eliminated in the first shoot-off of 25 targets. Blank finally faded in the third shoot-off.

H. D. Gibbs, 76-year-old former professional from Union City, Tenn., walked off with the veterans' title earlier yesterday.

Defending titlists today are Seattle's Arnold Riegger and Mrs. Claude Winterrowd of Chicago. Women and junior state titleholders meet in two other Champion of Champions events on today's card.

Charles Kaltschnee of Exeter, Ill.; Ralph Marthey of Orville and D. A. Flewelling of Harvey, Ill., meet in a shoot-off today for first place in the 200-target introductory event. All had perfect scores yesterday.

76 Caddy-Golfers Vye For Berths

COLUMBUS, Aug. 22—Seventy-six of the nation's top caddy-golfers tee-off today in the 36-hole qualifying round of the National Caddy Tournament.

The 76 will be vying for 64 berths in match play scheduled to begin in the tournament tomorrow over the Ohio State university scarlet course in Columbus.

The youthful linksmen will compete in single matches tomorrow and double rounds Thursday and Friday. The 36-hole final match is carded for Saturday.

This year's champion will receive a $1500 scholarship. The runner-up will receive a $750 scholarship.

Matinecock Pace Won By Step

WESTBURY, N. Y., Aug. 22—Step won the featured Matinecock Pace at Roosevelt Raceway last night as John Simpson brought home the eight-year-old black gelding a length in front of Mr. Vermont, with Mudd Puddle taking third. The race was timed in 2:06 1-5.

Owened by Carl T. Weber, of Plainfield, N. J., Step took over the lead from the pace-setting Mr. Vermont in the stretch to notch his third win of the campaign in 15 outings.

Red-Hot Birds Pennant Bound?

Columbus' victory string is up to eight straight Tuesday and the Red Birds apparently have no intention of cooling off.

They outlasted Minneapolis, current American Association leader, to win by 3-2 last night for their latest triumph.

Furthermore, the Birds now trail the Millers by only three and a half games and could conceivably make up that distance this week if they continue at their present pace.

Wildness by Minneapolis Starter Kirby Higbe aided the Columbus attack Monday. The big knuckleballer walked three men, two of whom later scored, in the second inning as the Red Birds scored what proved to be the game's deciding runs.

Detroit Given Pennant Chance

NEW YORK, Aug. 22—Manager Red Rolfe admitted for probably the first time today that he believes his Detroit Tigers have an excellent chance of winning the American League Pennant.

The soft-spoken, straight-forward Rolfe said: "We can get that flag if we can play a little better than .500 ball against the first division teams—say win two games out of three—and they can't catch us. The second-division boys don't worry us at present."

There are some 660 cars stolen in America every day.

Less than half of the people who read books buy them, a survey shows.

Matinecock Pace Won By Step

WESTBURY, N. Y., Aug. 22—Step won the featured Matinecock Pace at Roosevelt Raceway last night as John Simpson brought home the eight-year-old black gelding a length in front of Mr. Vermont, with Mudd Puddle taking third. The race was timed in 2:06 1-5.

Owned by Carl T. Weber, of Plainfield, N. J., Step took over the lead from the pace-setting Mr. Vermont in the stretch to notch his third win of the campaign in 15 outings.

Red-Hot Birds Pennant Bound?

Columbus' victory string is up to eight straight Tuesday and the Red Birds apparently have no intention of cooling off.

They outlasted Minneapolis, current American Association leader, to win by 3-2 last night for their latest triumph.

Furthermore, the Birds now trail the Millers by only three and a half games and could conceivably make up that distance this week if they continue at their present pace.

Wildness by Minneapolis Starter Kirby Higbe aided the Columbus attack Monday. The big knuckle-baller walked three men, two of whom later scored, in the second inning as the Red Birds scored what proved to be the game's deciding runs.

Detroit Given Pennant Chance

NEW YORK, Aug. 22—Manager Red Rolfe admitted for probably the first time today that he believes his Detroit Tigers have an excellent chance of winning the American League Pennant.

The soft-spoken, straight-forward Rolfe said: "We can get that flag if we can play a little better than 500 ball against the first division teams—say win two games out of three—and they can't catch us. The second-division boys don't worry us at present."

Thomas Gives Tip To Pickaway County Corn Growers

Legumes, Rotations Boost Yield

Soil Mellowed, Easier To Work

Pickaway County corn growers Tuesday were given a tip on how to plan now for their corn crops of the future.

Merle Thomas, associate county extension agent, explained that the "tip" is rotation of legumes and grasses to condition the soil.

"Corn yields can be boosted as much as 16 bushels per acre when legumes and grasses are included regularly in the rotation," Thomas said.

"Yields average 51.1 bushels per acre over a 9-year period when rotations included legumes. On fields where no legumes were grown, corn yields average only about 34.8 bushels per acre," he added.

Thomas says that the longer land goes without a legume or grass crop the harder it is to get the soil back into high crop production.

"Legumes mellow the soil and make it easier to work," he said. They replenish the organic matter supply. Their roots penetrate the sub-soil and loosen it to help drainage and ventilation of heavy, tight clay soils. Legume-grass mixtures protect the surface against both wind and water erosion by forming a thick turf or sod. The sod prevents light rolling soils from washing.

"Alfalfa and sweet clover give their best performance when they are well fed with phosphate and potash fertilizer. At seeding time, the addition of nitrogen fertilizer helps the young plants to get well established.

"A well-rounded diet of plant nutrients helps the legumes build strong root systems and high yielding stands above ground. When the roots and tops are plowed under or disced in, they add organic matter that conditions the soil for bigger yields of corn and grain following in the rotation."

Mother Of Three Is Attacked

PRINCETON, N. J., Aug. 22—A 25-year-old mother of three children was in critical condition today in Princeton hospital after being found unconscious in a woods a mile from her home. Police said she had been savagely beaten and raped.

The woman, whose name was withheld, was reported missing yesterday by her husband. She left home to take a bus to New Brunswick. The spot where she was found was a short distance inside the woods from the highway where the bus runs.

Authorities said they would be hampered in their search for the attacker until the victim is sufficiently recovered to tell a coherent story.

Darwin Theory Plays Into Reds' Hands, Pope Says

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 22 — Pope Pius XII said Monday that the theory of evolution plays squarely into the hands of Communism.

The pontiff hit at the theories of Charles Darwin in an encyclical entitled "Humani Generis."

The Pope, mentioning Communism by name, said:

Some imprudently and indiscreetly hold that evolution—though it has not been fully proved even in the domain of the natural sciences—explains the origin of all things and audaciously support the monistic and pantheistic opinion of the world's continuous evolution.

The Communists gladly subscribe to this opinion so

Fast Thinking Averts Wreck

WASHINGTON, Aug. 22—Joseph Callow, 27, is a hero today because he thinks fast in an emergency.

Callow, a switchman at Washington Union terminal, heard a loud-speaker report of a runaway locomotive and saw it from his switchman's tower at about the same time.

Without stopping to consider the matter, he threw a switch sending the locomotive crashing into a train that had just discharged its passengers.

The brakeman and the conductor of the train suffered slight injuries, but the train that the locomotive might have hit if it had not been switched at the last moment was a crack train loaded with 200 passengers.

The engine and the loaded train missed each other by eight feet.

Ohio University Coed Arrested

CLEVELAND, Aug. 22—Cleveland police are holding two Ohio university coeds in connection with a trail of bad checks at downtown department stores.

The 20-year-old east sider and her 19-year-old roommate from Suburban Lakewood were arrested Saturday when they tried to pass a $185 check at one of the stores, detectives said.

The pair cashed between $300 and $500 worth of bad checks since July, according to detectives.

Police said the girls would be released when their parents made good the checks.

The Communists gladly subscribe to this opinion so that when men's souls have been deprived of the very idea of God, they may, the more efficaciously, defend and propagate their dialectical materialism."

The Pope lamented the fact that the principles of Christian culture "are being attacked on all sides."

He labeled as dangerous deviations the tendency to liken the scriptures to mythology, and "pacifism" by which Catholics would minimize church dogmas to make possible the unity of Christian dissidents.

He also deplored as "fictitious tenets," other tendencies such as existentialism, and warned they may lead to atheism and "historicism," or the giving of value only to events in a man's life.

He stressed the "pacifist" tendency for the union of Christians "would bring only destruction of all."
